

Workflow	Why it matters	“Done Well”
Learning New AI and Backend Concepts	Every assignment teaches something new, so I need to understand it before I use it in my work.	I can explain the concept in simple words and apply it in a small example without depending completely on AI.
Building Technical Assignments and Projects	Every week I will build projects and assignments as part of the internship.	The project works correctly, is well documented, and I can confidently explain how it works.
Documentation and Portfolio Building	Good documentation makes my work easier to understand and also helps me build a better portfolio.	Every assignment has clear documentation, organized files, and can be understood by someone opening it for the first time.
